

GOV. J. H. HIGGINS FOR JAMESTOWN

Executive of Rhode Island, With His Staff, to Be Present on Opening Day.

OTHER DISTINGUISHED PEOPLE

Special Act of Legislature Passed So That His Excellency Can Leave State.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., April 6.—That Governor James H. Higgins will officially represent the State of Rhode Island at the Jamestown tercentenary on its opening day is now practically assured, as the sudden departure of Lieutenant-Governor Frederick H. Jackson to Paris to the bedside of his son, who is seriously ill there, has necessitated a change in the program. Lieutenant-Governor Jackson was to have headed the State's delegation, but now Governor Higgins will go in his place.

In order that he should go, it became necessary to enact a law providing for the appointment of a president of the Senate. Through a bill which passed the Senate Friday last the office of Senate president is created, and now the Governor can go away in the absence of the Lieutenant-Governor without throwing the duties of acting Governor upon the shoulders of the Secretary of State.

Governor Higgins has made most of the necessary arrangements for his trip to the exposition with his staff. He will be accompanied by the general staff of the State's military department, as well as his personal staff. The party will also include such of the general officers of the State as desire to go, the five members of the Rhode Island Commission and the five justices of the Supreme Court, all being entitled to be accompanied by their wives.

An act is now before the Legislature, having already passed the House of Representatives, making an additional appropriation for the commission in this State, with the view of providing the necessary expenses of a proper representation of the State at the opening.

The bill provides as follows: "To further enable the Jamestown Tercentenary Exposition Commission to carry out the provisions of chapter 138 of the public laws, and to provide for a suitable representation from this State on the occasion of the opening of said exposition, and on Rhode Island Day and week, as well as to defray the expenses incurred by the commission of inquiry appointed under the provisions of a joint resolution for the appointment of a commission to arrange for the participation of the State in the exposition aforesaid, the sum of $30,000 is hereby appropriated further, payable out of any money in the treasury not otherwise appropriated, in the manner specified in said chapter."

Section 2. His Excellency, the Governor, is hereby authorized to loan, as a part of the historical exhibit of this State at said exposition, the original commission issued by George the Third, King of Great Britain, on the second day of September, 1772, to the commissioners therein appointed to investigate the matter of the burning of the Gaspee, which commission is deposited in the office of the Secretary of State; and also the portrait of George Washington, of Rhode Island, and now in the Newport county court-house.

HAVE GOOD TIME.
Employees of Miller & Rhoads Give Fine Entertainment.
The employees of Miller & Rhoads had a very enjoyable time in the big building on Thursday night. A first-class musical and literary entertainment was participated in by ladies and gentlemen connected with the house.

The vocal selections were of a high order, notably so those rendered by Miss Mary Lindsay, Miss Annie Lundin and Messrs. Seivert, Wilkinson and Kass.

Miss Teresa Canale played the accompaniment on the piano. Miss Ethel DuVal gave two recitations in negro dialect. Miss DuVal is easily one of the best amateur elocutionists in Richmond.

Fitzhugh Shields, the inimitable mimic, brought forth shouts of laughter from all present.

Dr. A. L. Phillips, of the Presbyterian Board of Publication, was the guest of the employees' association, and his talk on organization and the "get-together spirit" was greatly enjoyed by all present.

The employees' association of this store is a very strong organization, which has for its object the helping of its members in times of sickness and the meeting together in social intercourse from time to time.

MEETING OF CHILD'S STUDY CLUB POSTPONED
The meeting of the Brook Avenue Child's Study Club will be postponed from Monday, the 5th instant, until Monday, the 15th, at 8 P. M.

Services at Immanuel.
The pastor, Rev. E. W. Stone, will preach in the Immanuel Baptist Church at both services. Morning subject: "The Source of Divine Light to Man." Evening: "The Problem of Bread."

Spanish War Vets.
Fitzhugh Lee Camp, Spanish-American War Veterans, will meet Tuesday night at Smithfield Hall, Commander George N. Skidmore will preside, and a good deal of important business will be transacted. After the business session, the camp will have a smoker at Sparks and Black's Cafe.

Cut Glass Specials

We announce the showing of artistic pieces in Cut Glass at specially low prices. These pieces are of the same high quality as is regularly sold, but instead of buying a limited number we purchased them in larger lots, thereby buying cheaper, and enabling us to cut the prices considerably.

This will be a prominent feature in the handling of Cut Glass in the future, and will appeal to all buyers of glassware, whether for presentation or personal use.

Cut Glass Napkins, regular price $3.00, special $2.00.

Cut Glass Celery Trays, regular price $4.00, special $2.50.

Cut Glass Bowls, regular price $5.00, special $3.00 and $4.00.

We invite your inspection of this display.

WHAT JUDGE EMBREY THINKS OF SITUATION

Says Fight for Congress Is Between Ryan and Gordon.

Hon. Alvin T. Embrey, former judge of the Corporation Court of the city of Fredericksburg, and for several terms a member of the House of Delegates was in the city yesterday, having appeared in a case in the United States Court.

Judge Embrey lives on the edge of the Eighth Congressional District, and is familiar with what is going on among the candidates for Congress to succeed the late John F. Rixey.

When asked yesterday what he thought of the situation, Judge Fredericksburg lawyer declared that in his opinion the fight had narrowed down between former Speaker John F. Ryan, of Loudoun, and Hon. R. Lindsay Gordon, of Loudoun.

Judge Embrey did not say which one of these gentlemen he thought would win, but he was emphatic in asserting his belief that they were stronger than either of their competitors.

He did not regard Mr. Carlin as a formidable competitor, and said Judge Nicol had not developed the strength which his friends had claimed for him at first.

The views expressed by Judge Embrey are those of a great many well-posted leaders who come here from Northern Virginia, and it is considered as indicative of Speaker Ryan's strength, that nearly every one who discusses the matter names him as a leading candidate.

The Democratic District Committee has fixed June 19th as the date for the primary.

MASON SENTENCED.

Judge Waddill Imposes the Minimum Punishment.

In the United States District Court yesterday, Judge Waddill sentenced Claude W. Mason to six months in jail and imposed a fine of $1,000, for permitting a distiller at Emporia to remove liquor unstamped from a bonded warehouse. Mason is in the employment of the government as a stockkeeper and gauger, and as such was in charge of a distillery run by a man named Wilson. The jury found Mason guilty, and the court inflicted the minimum punishment provided by the statute.

Mason is a young man of good family connections, and his offense is regarded more in the nature of indiscretion than a deliberate violation of the laws. It is not unlikely that his counsel, Mr. George A. Hanson and Hon. Thomas N. Williams, may take an appeal.

SENT TO JAIL.

Dope Peddler Punished Severely in Police Court.

A negro named David Jackson was fined $100 and sent to jail for a year in the Police Court yesterday on the charge of selling cocaine. He said he gave him fifty cents as a present. He declared that he would not be caught selling the stuff. But he was caught by Policeman Bradley, and now he will have lots of time thinking it over.

GOSPEL SERVICES AT CHRISTIAN CHURCH

The Third Christian Church will begin a series of gospel meetings to-day. This church has a large membership, and is one of the most energetic and enthusiastic in the East End. Rev. Gerald Culbertson, the pastor, who has recently taken up the work there, is a young man of power in the pulpit and full of enthusiasm, and has won great favor with his people. Rev. Matthew S. Decker, of East Palestine, O., who will conduct these special services, is a speaker of wide reputation, and the congregation is expecting a great meeting. A large chorus choir will furnish the music.

Millennial-Dawn Lecture.

Mr. Benjamin H. Burton, of Allegheny, Pa., will deliver a lecture in Davidson's Hall, Seventh and Broad, at 7:45 o'clock to-morrow night, under the auspices of the Believers in the Millennial Dawn. Mr. Burton is a very able and interesting speaker, and will no doubt be greeted by a large audience. He will discuss "God's Eternal Purpose." No admission fee will be charged.

Another Skinner.

Mr. J. A. Skinner, the awning man, who does business at No. 912 Beverly Street, wants everybody to know that he is not the J. A. Skinner who was picked up by the police the other day. The sleeper was a tramp who had the same name and initials as the awning-maker.

Democratic Precinct Meetings.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
ROANOKE, Va., April 6.—The Democrats of Franklin county will hold delegate meetings April 10th to elect delegates to the county convention here April 13th to nominate candidates for the November election.

To Edgar A. Poe.

Oh, weary poet, bowed with pain and woe,
Thou moody lord of song,
We mark thy form as thou dost tread alone
The Elysian vale along.
Thou bendest not thy haughty, imperious brow,
The poet throng to greet,
Thy brethren in the brotherhood of song,
Whom myriads fain would meet.
Dear Kents will gladly bring thee of his balm,
Thy fellow born in woe—
Nepenthean balm for misery and gloom
He found him long ago.
And England's laurelled son, beloved of thee
When both ye twain were here,
Hath passed but late the dark Lethean wave,
And breathes the ether clear.
And Coleridge, too, thy elder brother dear
In poetry, gloom, romance,
Go look for him; his dreamy, poet-eye
Will flash thee friendly glance.
Salute dear Hawthorne; for ye two were twins,
Of weird, phantasmal birth.
No envy blurs your blessedness and love;
Ye scorn the hates of earth.
Go greet the poet who hath taught us well—
And "lived aloud his song"—
That "life is real," and bid him tread with thee
The dewy meads along.
And beg him pardon thee that thou, oppressed
With pain and mortal pang,
With feeble praises blended with all scorn
Didst hear the song he sang.

If thou, oh, poet, bowed with pain and woe,
Wilt find sweet pleasure there,
In that boon fellowship of men of fame
And beings great and fair.
We men this side, who love and worship all
Of fame and high empire,
Will pile thee plinths and pyramids and bronze
'Neath blest Virginian skies.

II.

Oh, mourning lover of the lost Lenore,
Oh, poet bathed in gloom,
Who didst lie mourning at the marble door
Of dreary vault and tomb,
Tell me, O poet, if in that blest clime
Removed from mortal ken,
Thou yet have found the "rare and radiant" maid,
And quaffed of bliss again?

We picture thee with her of mighty fame
Wandering hand in hand
The plashy meadows and the pebbly wolds
Of yon Elysian land.

And we are glad—gladder than tongue can tell
Or poet flash with pen—
That ye dear twain do tread the balmy plain,
To part no more again.

Ye twain are glad now in the praise of men
The most august of fame;
We men, this side the dark Lethean tide,
Are plunged in floods of blame.

Ye twain are clothed upon with light and life
In realms of deathless day;
We men below are groping in the gloom
And ever lose our way.

Thou, poet, and the maiden debonaire
Whom angels call Lenore—
Oh, breathe the balmy gloves over there
On green Elysian shore.

This side the flood, the "fret and thorn of life"—
Ye felt it—lessens naught:
Glory and gloom go ever hand in hand,
And bliss can scarce be bought.

"Friendship is still a name," tell Goldsmith dear,
Who's over there with thee;
And "love is still an emptier sound," was true
With ye two, true with me.

Oh, blessed lovers, famed, eternal pair,
Tread the Elysian plain;
Bless the immortal gods that ye no more
Are pining here with pain.

For there ye flourish in eternal prime;
And bright, perennial Eden;
This side, we creep decrepily to age,
And totter to the tomb.

DR. GALESKI SAYS LOAN WAS PAID

Supreme Governor Discusses the Affairs of American Guild.

Dr. S. Galeski, Supreme Governor of the American Guild, returned to the city yesterday, and dictated the following statement in reply to the criticisms of the guild by the Virginia and Maryland Departments of Insurance: "Strictness is made upon the American Guild for holding bank stock and having effected amalgamations with other societies so as to increase its own prestige and prosperity. Upon reflection, it will be found that these criticisms are unjust and uncalled for, for it is legal for any institution to own bank stock, or to borrow money, just so that it discharges and pays its debts and obligations; that has been the policy of the American Guild ever since its existence of seventeen years ago, and it enjoys the reputation of meeting its obligations, of whatsoever nature, promptly and cheerfully."

Has All Been Paid.

"It is true that the American Guild owed some time ago $75,000 to the bank, which it preferred to borrow rather than to dispose of its securities at that time, but now, after the bank has been paid off and discharged, amalgamations are specifically sanctioned by the laws of the State of Virginia, and it is usual for such to occur among banks and other societies in every section of the country, for, as a rule, amalgamations are beneficial to the members, giving added strength and security to one and all."

"That these amalgamations have to be paid for is quite natural and usual. The same is true as to every individual member who has been added to the organization. In these days it is impossible to obtain membership, either singly or in large numbers, without expending money. But all these expenditures were made solely in the interest of the American Guild for its advancement and welfare, without the slightest bent to any officer thereof, but merely in the conscientious discharge of duty."

ENTERTAIN IN HONOR OF RICHMOND GUESTS

The Greenboro, N. C., Industrial News of Wednesday last says: "Monday night, at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. D. McAdoo,

In Ashboro Street, Miss Mary Isabella McAdoo delightfully entertained her host of friends at a delightful after-noon reception, in honor of her cousin, Miss Marion Lea, and Dalton Pearson, of Richmond, Va.

The home was beautifully adorned with decorations appropriate to the season, and as the guests arrived they were received by W. D. McAdoo, Mrs. W. D. McAdoo, Miss Mary McAdoo, Miss Marion Lea and Dalton Pearson and W. D. McAdoo, Jr.

In the rear of the reception hall were stationed Mrs. Lea, of Richmond, and Miss Jennie Rankin, who served delicious refreshments.

During the evening there was a musical concert. In this contest the prizes were won by Miss Fleda Johnson and Rob King.

At 10:30 o'clock the guests were ushered into the dining-room, where delicious refreshments were served by Miss Mary McAdoo, Miss Marion Lea and Dalton Pearson.

All through the evening beautiful music was furnished by Messrs. Charles Alderman, George Thompson, Miss Marion Lea and Misses Mary McAdoo and Dalton Pearson.

At 11:30 o'clock the guests bid farewell to the gracious hostess, and all declared it to be a most enjoyable function.

MISS KEARNEY'S LECTURE

Will Speak Here Under Auspices of the W. C. T. U.

Miss Belle Kearney, of Mississippi, who comes here to deliver three lectures under the auspices of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union, has received the highest praise of critics in the cities she has visited.

In one city where she delivered her lecture upon "Women in the Orient," the leading paper had the following complimentary notice: "Miss Kearney is a typical Southerner, and her accent and mannerisms were not the least of her pleasing address. She has a deep musical voice and a delivery almost dramatic. Her diction is picturesque and her liberal and apt quotations from the classics and moderns on subjects, social and Christian, indicate a wide range of reading. Wit, humor and pathos, varied with logic, held her audience spellbound to the end."

Her first lecture will be in the Assembly Hall of Barton Heights at 8 o'clock this afternoon.

This evening in Broad Street Methodist Church there will be a union mass-meeting of all temperance forces, addressed by Miss Kearney, on "Who Is Responsible?" The choir will render its Easter music, and Mrs. Walter Duke will sing a solo.

To-morrow at 8 P. M. Miss Kearney will speak in Leigh Street Baptist Church—subject, "The Final Victory."

LET CONTRACTS FOR HANDSOME HOUSES

This and Other Building in Abingdon—Construction Company Chartered.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
ABINGDON, Va., April 6.—At the monthly meeting of the Town Council of Abingdon a license tax of one hundred dollars was levied on the sale of coco-cola. The dealers were given a few days to produce evidence to sustain their claim that this beverage is not injurious to the public health.

If this tax stands it will be equivalent to a prohibition of its sale. A company under the name of the "Abingdon Construction Company" has recently been organized here, and will at once apply to the corporation commission for a charter. The principal business of the company will be the manufacture of concrete blocks, but will sell building material of all kinds.

W. B. Robertson is president, Mrs. Elizabeth C. White of Abingdon, treasurer, and Thomas H. Mason, secretary. Two handsome residences have been let to contract here. One on Valley Street, the property of Mr. A. McBrady, is already in course of construction. The other will be erected on the site of the old Cumming's home on Main Street, by Dr. James W. Cummings. Mr. W. H. Mussek has the contract, and will begin ground for the foundation at an early day.

The bronze figure of a Confederate soldier that is to surmount the monument to be erected to the memory of the soldiers of Washington county who served in the War Between the States, reached here this morning. The figure was designed by Mr. Seivers, the well-known Virginia sculptor. The whole monument is to cost $10,000. Three thousand dollars of this amount was appropriated by the board of supervisors and the balance was raised by private subscription.

COLONEL MASSIE'S CARD.

Announces the Platform on Which He Stands for Re-Election

Colonel Eugene C. Massie has issued a card to the people of Richmond, announcing his candidacy for re-election in the House of Delegates, and setting out the things for which he will stand, if elected. The card is to be found in full elsewhere in this paper. There are twelve planks in Colonel Massie's platform, the first being a reaffirmation of his belief in the Torrens system of land registration. Colonel Massie devotes much of his subject of tax reform, and declares strongly in favor of creating the office of traveling auditor. He declares for the further improvement of the public highways of the State, and for fostering and broadening the public school system in every possible way.

In his card Colonel Massie takes strong ground in favor of "the just regulation and control of public service corporations."

FAILED TO "TOOT."

Argument Resulted, Then Hot Words and Later Fines.

An argument concerning the management of an automobile resulted in two fines in the Police Court yesterday morning. J. H. Engle was charged with cursing R. S. Jenkins, and the latter was charged with hitting the former. C. T. Montgomery was in the automobile driven by Jenkins, and the testimony resulted in a fine for Montgomery and Jenkins of $10 each. The two in the auto were charged with failing to "toot" when they passed Mr. Engle. There came near being an accident. Hot words followed; hence the fines.

FOUR KILLED 'N FIGHT WITH RUSSIAN POLICE

STAVROPOL, RUSSIA, April 6.—Four peasants were killed and three wounded yesterday in a conflict between villagers of Jaiga and some rural policemen, who had arrested a peasant. The police were forced to abandon their prisoner and retire.

MUNICIPAL MEETINGS.

Common Council to Hold Special Session To-Morrow Night.

Councilmen will have plenty of work to do during the coming week, a number of meetings being scheduled to take place. The Common Council will meet to-morrow night in special session to dispose of the work left over from the last regular meeting, and the schedule contains many important matters. Other meetings announced for the week so far are: St. John's Burying Ground Committee, to-morrow night; Grounds and Buildings, Tuesday night. Probably such other business as may properly come before said meeting.

NEW POLICE JUSTICE.

Councilman Bunting Succeeds Mayor Rice.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
BRISTOL, TENN., April 6.—Mayor Rice, of Bristol, Va., having resigned as Police Justice, the Council elected Jere Bunting, a member of Council, to succeed him. It is claimed that under the provisions of the City Charter, Councilman Bunting is barred from the position of Police Justice, and the legality of his election is being tested in the court. Upon the decision of Judge Price, who is expected to pass upon the question Monday, the liberty of about ten prisoners now in the City Jail depends.

The action to test this matter was brought in the form of an application for a writ of habeas corpus in the case of a colored man who is being held in prison for carrying arms.

Bristol, Tenn., is to have a new water supply, and the Council has passed on its final reading a measure providing for an issue of $25,000 of per cent. bonds. These bonds will not be offered for sale below par.

Closing Up Old Wells.

Under the direction of Dr. Levy, the chief health officer, and the Health Board, the street cleaning force is engaged in filling the old wells in the city. The greater part of them are in the annexed territory. Several of the more dangerous and unsanitary were closed last week.
